I paid for the Volkerdon mock exams as I wanted to prepare myself for the real exam situation for full 80 questions in 60 minutes and prefer to pay a little than 2+time for the attempts :P There are many of them and it just happened I chose this one. I actually failed 3/4 for the mock test as it really pushes your knowledge and understanding. Try to get 100% in both of the assessments. - I also did Mikhail Lapshin quizzes for both Scrum master and product owner many times possible until i did it in 20 mins because the exam is 1 hour long and it has 80 questions. Take all Open assessments(PSM,PO,Nexus) to understand the interlink between the roles and for better understanding. ALL THE BEST , who are going take the certification. Having read the Scrum Guide multiple times, I started attempting the PSM Open Assessments as well as the PO Open Assessments and consistently scored 100%. But, make sure that you are ready! Don't be confident with yourself... My strategy: 1. I wish all to be healthy,Safe and Successful. But, i had read the scrum guide 5 to 6 times till date and understood it and its implementations in different scenarios. 2. I had in total put around 2 weeks of study (2 full days of attempting questions and going through the scrum guide etc.) before giving the exam. Thank you and good performance to all! Pablo, from the bottom of my heart: "Thank you!" It was a huuuge difference when reading the Scrum guide from a physical source (paper), instead of reading it from a screen. It is important understand the questions, and why the options are valids. Just add some practice test from udemy. Few of the things i did to prepare, Read the Scrum Guide whenever you get time. Work on Simulations from Udemy course & other available free Mock tests. Most of the big questions in Practice tests are based on Scrum Transparency, Scrum Integration, these are scenario based, these are big questions and big answers, my %'s on these topics are 70% and 68% and varied in the 2 practice tests which i have taken. If you tried it more enough, the questions could be repeated, but don't get too confident that you are 100% ready. Thank you Hello, I am preparing for the PSM1 exam does anyone know where to find free tests online apart from these I found online. Thanks. 4. The day before the assessment, took the Mlapshin assessment once, a couple of open assessments and also the Udemy practice assessments. Thanks to @Sanjeev Ramani for your tips especially taking notes in a question-answer format. Thanks to one all and eagerly waiting for all your responses... are protected brand of Scrum . It links to an Exam simulator that cost 27$ and no manual available. It's against the recomendation of scrumcrazy number 7 (third party companies). I studied in a 40-minute time-box (2 time-boxes on weekends) for 4 weeks. The test is not simple, but it is not difficult. Be sure nothing will interrupt you for the next hour. You could flag the questions in between to come back and check again before the time expired, so finish all the questions first and not spend too much time on one. Mainly on Keyword No, Not, Should, Must, Select two, three...... Read the scrum guide once, followed with open assessments from scrum.org Read the wrong answers, validated the explanations from the scrum guide. Thank you all for you valuable suggestions. I read the "Scrum Guide (2020)" 3 times. Add those to you notes which you can refer later when you do your 5-10 min read. Try to do it quicker before the time expires. Go through ❖ 2. 3. That was key #1, and key #2 for passing the exam studying by yourself, it's to have a 15 to 20min spare time for reviewing some answers after finish; that time can be achieved by practicing and completing the mock assesment from Scrum.org once and again with 100% everytime. and read the scrum guide.... RB Hello, I passed the PSM 1 assessment with a 96.3% score on the first try a few days back and I can confirm that it really demands a thorough understanding of the Scrum framework. Last but not the least I attempted the free questions on ❖which helped me understand how to answer certain questions that were not really direct from the Scrum guide. Is this the same case with the real time exam also ? Good Luck :) Also invested some money to buy some practices tests from udemy which helped me a lot as well. Take notes and create flowchart/smart chart based on your learning. I am basically doing the same ;) 1. Its very easy and you can read the entire guide in 30 min, once you know what they are talking about. I was able to pass the PSM1 exam with 100% marks. Reading: Scrum Guide 2020 version: of course this is a must, and I read it 3 times (practice mock exam in between reading) Agile Manifesto: 3 times Nexus Guide: 2 times Scrum Glossary(: 2 times The Scrum Master Training Manual v.1.6 By Nader K. I also have fear of going to the exam like bayeza. Read the Scrum guide 2020 thoroughly for multiple times. Hi, first of all congratulations with your achievement. 6. Exam is not that difficult. until I have the score of 100% in less tan five minutes.... Also, many online courses are not completely aligned to the Scrum Guide and this could represent a risk for your exam.Note: All my Students pass the exam at first attempt and with an average percentage of around 95%! (with top students reporting all correct answers!)In fact, my course is very structured, rich in content and illustrations and pays great attention to detail. It represents in my opinion the best way both to approach the Framework and, above all, to better prepare for the PSM I Certification exam (which I remember is very Prestigious on the market and also quite difficult to pass).In particular, each module and each lesson is identified by a label that indicates:if its content is part of the official Scrum Guide and therefore the subject of PSM I examination questionsor represents an Additional Content (its concepts are useful to better understand some more sneaky exam questions)or an Additional Content (of intermediate-advanced level) useful above all to acquire additional knowledge to be applied in the practice of work in ScrumAs a result, it is possible to build 3 learning paths:A first path intended for Agile and Scrum Neophyte who wants to acquire a first knowledge (including all the notions of the Scrum Guide Framework)A second path intended for People with basic knowledge and/or already practitioners who want to acquire all the knowledge and practices necessary to better prepare for PSM 1 Certification or rethink their Scrum practices.A third path intended for whoever wants to carry out a complete path, going as far as to deepen some important aspects and practices such as Agile requirements, the main estimation techniques, the main metrics for monitoring the progress of the project or the application of the Scrum in contexts of more than one team working on the same product.In summary, the Course consists of 3 hours of Video, online eBook with +250 schematic and illustrated pages divided into 10 modules and 30 lessons, 7 additional content to download and 2 final PSM I Exam Simulators consisting each of 80 quality questions in English with a complexity similar to the real exam. I have studied Scrum Guide several times and I made my own notes from it. Go back to the guide and check all the terms and concepts that aren't clear or you don't fully understand. Please provide me some inputs who already attempted and passed as well ? Current course and practice exam are neither endorsed by nor affiliated with Scrum . Thanks a lot to all those recommandations. Thank you and I sincerely hope it can help those who are planning to take the assessment! Hello All, I finally cleared the PSM1 Certification Exam yesterday with 95% (It was my 2nd attempt) First of All , it is not only the free assessments that you do to pass this exam. The following day directly appeared for the assessment in the evening after a busy day Cleared the assessment with 86.3% . Quiero empezar desde hoy y me estoy organizando Saludos Hi, I am preparing for taking the PSMI exam soon but i am a bit afraid that i didn't do all the study i should do. I watched several videos and making tests my results are really good like %93-%95 but I am so scared to take exam. I read the "Agile Manifesto" and "Scrum Glossary". Here is how I prepared: 1. - It helped a lot to get used to the layout of the race (yes, it helps). What I did was: You may want to read my blog to understand my methods in complete detail. I also did these free open exams as above mentioned: Mikhail Lapshin, scrum quiz org, mplaza... Mikhail Lapshin is free with the 80 questions exam mode, it's amazing. Read Scrum Guide daily till you get belief understanding on the terminology, flow and concepts. Practice Open Assessments of Scrum Master, Product Owner, Developer, Nexus guide until you consistently get 100% in less than 5mins. During the exam, just be calm and read everything thoroughly. Thanks for all the tips up there, they are all super helpful. I looked for preparation tips and guidance on this forum and on YouTube channels. - Scrum Open, Producto Owner Open and Nexus Open. It helped me a lot to notice small word differences such as may/should/must and so on. Thanks to . I would definitely suggest going for the PSD1, many of the questions are similar to the scrum master certification. I am doing a self-study. - Simulators Official: I was doing the open simulator form scrum page (, all of them! (PSM, PSP Product Owner and PSD Developer) and many times... This really helped me. The MOST COMPREHENSIVE Course ABOUT SCRUM AND PROFESSIONAL SCRUM MASTER I ™ CERTIFICATION3 LEARNING PATHS, FROM BEGINNERS TO ALREADY SCRUM PRACTITIONERSINCLUDES VIDEO COURSE + eBOOK (BONUS that no other Video Course offers) + a 2 PSM I SIMULATORS !Hi! I am Angelo Tofalo and I have more than 15 years of professional experience gained within an important multinational Consulting company first as Project Manager and subsequently as Agile Transformation Coach. 1) 2) Free assessment test by Scrum Thank You. But at the same time it's not updated to 2020 version yet so it could get confusing sometimes. They are very helpful. - I also did free mock tests on ❖and it's very helpful to get some ideas on how tricky the questions can get and it's also gives you explanations on how this answer makes sense. - Most important, in the practice exams try to look at which answers are not making sense to the particular question , that is the only way to figure out which are the correct answers. Please don't be too confident with yourself, the real exam is much trickier and you need to have enough focus because there are 80 questions and you get only an hour. Thank you, everyone, and I hope this post helps Many Thanks to Pablo Inchausti, Liang Yang Lin, Miguel Valles Lopez! I have successfully completed PSM1 in first attempt with 96.3% within a week of taking the Udemy course: Top 4 things I emphasize to the guidance given above: 1. Hope this helps! Cheers! Sutapa I'm happy to have passed the PSM I with only two wrong questions on April 17, 2020. For topics like Burn-Down and Burn-Up charts and Cone of Uncertainty, I googled them and made quick notes for myself. Each question is then accompanied by a full explanation of the correct answer.As said, no other course offers you an accompanying ebook! This is particular useful as subsequent study (after the videos) and as quick reference during your exam ! (CTRL + F)Note1: Professional Scrum™, Professional Scrum Master™, PSM, PSM I, PSM 1, etc. Regards, Siva Ram. I have passed PSM1 with 90% in first attempt. Do you think so or they are almost in the same level? It´s not make sense to memorize anithing and It is not a help for you. - Simulators UnOfficial: Do the Mikhail Lapshin simulator is a must: you should undestand every question. Also, I am able to get the same percentage in "Mikhail Lapsin" sample test in 10 to 15 times i attempted them in Real time mode. How many questions can we expect on scenario based kind as it is coming from Agile and Nexus Scrum Frame work ? 5. Read the scrum guide a second time, (though I was losing patience), followed by practice assessments from Udemy. Last but not the least a big thank you to this awesome forum for sharing their experiences and tips for self-study. I am not sure it is the best idea to recommend here the site of scrum alliance, but they have a relatively good free online scrum training (based on the Scrum Guide) which includes lots of test questions. But the exam is in English, so, after that, I was reading the English version again and again. - It is very important to understand scrum from the guide, no from any other different version or implementations... again :)! regards! Hi Pablo! Congratulations! I followed your notes and I passed certification on the first try! Thanks a lot for this information Diego Pretty much what I did as well and passed PSM1, PSPO1, and PSD1. Also attempted ❖LM and RM quizzes for Scrum Master and PO and consistently scored between 95 to 100%. Some questions from open assessments may be present. You can definitely do it! Thanks again and good luck to all!! Just passed PSM 1 with 92%. Do you think it's worth the price? Where's the The Scrum Master Training Manual? Thanks, Prankul Hi All, I hope everyone is "Healthy & Safe" at your places. The Scrum Framework: Theory, Values, Roles, Events, Artifacts and RulesPractice scenario "A day in the Life of a Sprint"Two of the main frameworks for "Scaling" Scrum to multiple teams working togetherDeep dive on Agile Requirements, Estimation Techniques, Agile MetricsAll the tips to best prepare for the PSM I certification examA PSM I exam Simulators (160 High Quality questions)Several additional content Requirements Thanks to 3 different Learning Paths (from Basic to Advanced), the Course is suitable for both Scrum beginners, anyone who wants the most comprehensive course to prepare for the PSM I Certification, and already practitioners who want to get their knowledg I am glad that I have just passed PSM1 with one score of 97.5% on the first try, studyng for my self. What Will I Get ? Exam Day - Be Calm and Relax. - Helped to reflect on the knowledge of Scrum. Basically my point is to know how big is the questions and answers in actual exam ? To learn the Scrum Framework correctly there are few quality alternatives to classroom type courses that have much higher costs and course delivery locations often far from you. It was complete self study. My Name is Siva Ram, i am preparing for my PSM1 Certification from past 2 weeks and i am consistently able to get 98 to 100% in Open Scrum Assessments in 15 to 20 times when i attempted. The practice test have some questions, so long which took around a minute and half to read and all the four options are also so long to read and understand. You can't get by just by "I think I kind of know/understand this concept..." So I could go back and study harder ;) 4. Do it multiple times until you could get 100% in a row for 5 times at least within the timebox of 10 minutes. I managed to pass the PSM-I certification exam this week! It was my first attempt and I achieved a score of 96.3%. Some mock exams i took, Before the exam, i just took 2 full mock test to see if i remember the concepts and then i went for it and i scored 100%. Hope this helps. I passed the Volkerdon simulations. Some of them are relatively advanced. Marking which questions you are not quite sure of so you don't waste getting stuck on one question is important. If you study the scrum guide, Nexus Guide, practice with the accessment test SCRUM OPEN, PRODUCE OWNER, and NEXUS OPEN. - Aditional material: - And last, but not least: Don try to search answers in Internet while you are doing the exam: You will not have enough time to do it. Read the wrong answers carefully, and validatedjunderstood the explanation from scrum guide. Good luck in your exam. I passed the exam today with 96.3% score in first attempt. Total time invested from zero to passing the assessment = 7 days (whatever remaining after doing regular office work and household chores, including 2 days break in between.) Hi, everyone I passed the PSM 1 exam today with 98.8%, and I want to thank everyone because I took all your advice/ experience and made my own version for preparation, and I would like to share my experience and help other people. So, the point is not the training (anyone who can read should prefer doing so) but the tests included. 2. I have dedicated one week to prepare me to PSM1, and I would like to share what was the material that I have used: - The Scrum guide min of 3 times. I read the text "Professional Scrum Competences". For relationship between scrum teams I read the Nexus Guide which really helped understand how multiple scrum teams work on a single product. Try to write key points in a notepad and then you can just go through it in like 5-10 min. Did all the available mock exams both free and paid. I paid $19 to build my confidence. The explanation was amazing and tremendously helped me to save time and find answers in the real exams. I wrote the exam in 40 minutes and passed with 93.8% score today. I would like to ask a question. Key for me was printing, reading and making notes on the Scrum Guide, and doing the Scrum Open, Product Owner Open and Developer Open tests here to raise my initial 80% score up to 100%. Also, i spent some money to buy 6 practice tests (80 Questions each) in which 2 practice tests blowed away all my confidence (Ended up with 72% & 78% respectively) , so ultimately i need to hold the actual test which i planned take on this Sunday. So, based on that Note, let ask you all some queries based on my experience from the Practice tests. Do the open assessment once you feel confident about the content from the guide. que Dios te bendiga Pablo, bendiciones luis Just passed with 97.5% at first attempt, thanks for the tips from all the scrum gurus. I spent around 8 hours preparing over 3 days, but I do have experience as a developer on scrum teams. So far: 1) I take open assessments for (Scrum Open) and scoring 90-100% 2) Read Scrum.org guide several times and took my own notes 3) Read Mikhail Lapshin's quizguide and took his free assessment online as well Shall I be confident enough to take the exam now? My native language is not English, so I did try to read in my mother tongue before, but I honestly don't recommend it since it could confuse you with the translation. 4. Hi Beyza, I was in the same boat till yesterday and then finally i decided to take the exam. org. It will help to grasp the concepts easily. You can then review the tricky ones at the end, I had over 15 minutes spare to review the ones I had marked. It is better to be very good prepared before the exam. Many people made me scared that real exam questions are not even similar to those practice tests and they are much harder. If you are clear with concepts you will crack it!!!!! Cheers!!!!! Hello all, Just passed PSM1 with 100% at first attempt. I have repeated this free test until I have passed it with almost 100% in 40 minutes. Take course(I took Udemy - Agile Scrum Master) 3. How I got this high mark with only 3 weeks preparations, without prior experience with scrum and without attending a class: Specific practical tools and expressions, like burn-up and burn-down charts as well as the cone of uncertainty, I also learned by looking up their meaning on scrum sites and then turning them into digital flashcards. 4.Just before the Certification exam, practice 3 open assessments to set the approach & pace in place. Wishing you all well for your scrum and further agile journey! Theresa Hello Everyone, I passed my PSM1 in my first try with 91.3% with my self study and as mentioned above , mainly reading the scrum guide multiple times like reading a book that you love and taking the open assessments on PSM,PSPO and PSD. I scored 98.8%. Thanks again to this forum. I read nexus scrum guide, Agile Manifesto, Agile Iterative approaches and Scrum Guide mainly. - Just reading, then making appointments and finally revising. Hola Pablo, felicidades, es bueno saber que el auto aprendizaje es la clave, esa semana que dedicaste a estudiar cuántas horas de estudio implicó que le dediques diariamente? Try to get 95- 100 % on both of the quizzes. Read Question thoroughly. - Mock tests have questions that require a level of interpretation (no big deal, but different). Review the Answers and exclude the option which is not related to Scrum(ex: Project Manager, HR, COE) Don't give much time for direct questions. 1. I hope this post helps those who are preparing, in the same way that other posts in this community helped me. Also, do i need to take all the open assessments (Like developer, Agile, Nexus) before entering PSMI or the (Scrum Open) is enough? thank you. I read it like 4-5 times. Try to complete the exam in 30-45 min and give time to review the flagged questions. My Prep: Took 3 weeks for preparing.
